Inviting Creators of all things great,
Creativity is more than art or using your imagination.
Creativity can boost your self esteem. When you are creating, in those quiet or quick moments of making 'meaningful choices' you are using your unconscious and conscious mind.

It's a rare moment in life when they come together and if you pay attention you will start to see more indications of who you are, what you believe in or care about and that you have a very strong vision of the world. The more you create and are pleased with the results you get a little love rush of pleasure and when you stack these one of top of the other, over and over again you build building blocks of self esteem.
